- 1. Location and layout: See Annex.
- 2. Designation: Plant No. 619.
- Plant history: The plant has existed for a long time and was not destroyed during the war. Its expansion was begun Plant history: in 1948 and is continuing.
- 4. Work force: About 1,000 Soviets working in two shifts. Three German engineers are employed at the factory.
- 5. Production:
  - Radio sets and equipment of radio trucks.
  - Stationary transmitters whose power output was considerably more than five kilowatt. It was assumed that the tubes were manufactured in the electric bulb plant east of the Plant Mo. 619. Boxes were often carried from this plant to the radio equipment plant. The finished transmitters were packed in boxes and sent to OREL, MOSCON and MINSK.

25X1A Comment:

- Report on Radio Equipment Plant No. 619 in LENTWGRAD confirmed previous information of May 1948 and shows that this plant is being expanded.
- The plant is probably one of the two plants which have been as being next to the Bleetric Plant. Accorpreviously reported ding to the latter report a Radio Institute was also established there with the help of German experts.
- The localities to which the finished radio transmitters are reportedly sent are credible since it has been reported that radio installations are being constructed near Minsk. It is believed that a similar radio station is being planned in Orel.
- 1 Annex: Radio Equipment Plant No. 619 in LauthGRAD.
